DAY 4 - TUESDAY, SEPT 15 - HOME

7:00 am Enjoy breakfast this morning once again at your leisure.

9:00 am The Museum of the Ursuline Nuns is an art and history museum whose mission is to preserve and present the rich heritage of the oldest teaching order in the province, based in Quebec city since 1639. With their first museum in 1936, the Ursulines revealed a treasure that had never before been shown to the general public. Through these summer exhibitions, which were seen through the grills of the monastery's parlour, the sisters sought to present to Quebec's population a heritage from a common past. First female teachers for girls in North America and the first occupants of Quebec City with the Augustine sisters, Jesuits and settlers, the Ursulines of Quebec have a collection whose value far exceeds the story of a religious order in Quebec and Canada. Interesting and informative about the education of girls in times past. "Who knew" was a reaction. The living, schooling and church facilities are all worth seeing.

10:30 am We'll check out of our hotel and begin our next adventure!

11:00 am Let's travel to the Observatory of the Capital / Observatoire de la Capitale - the perfect stop on our last day in Quebec City where you will have a 360 degree view of Quebec City from 221 meters up!
